CLASS ODE

By

ALICE DUNN

I

As troubled seas once more are calm
And peace restored to man
Our classmates have returned once more
To this their native land.
We are the class of "46"
And onward we will sail
To honors in our chosen fields
In this we must not fail.

II

To troubled nations o'er the seas
We must not close our doors
We must not fail those laid to rest
On far off foreign shores.
As future leaders of this land
Embarked on a strange new trail
To nations who are in despair
We pledge — We will not fail.

MISS RYAN

To Miss Ryan, the class of '46 and the Spindle Staff in particular, extend sincere thanks for making possible the realization of our hopes. Reflected in "The Spindle" are the results of her untiring efforts.

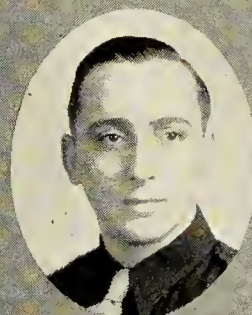

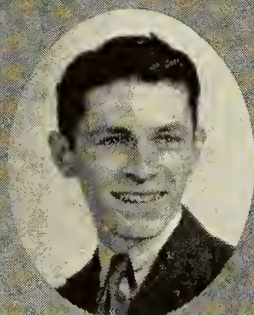

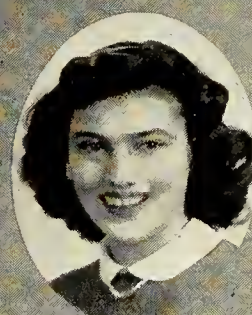

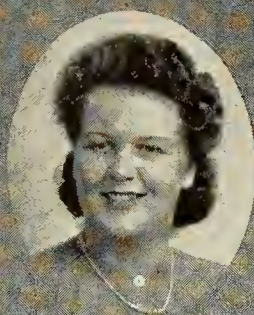

Since our first meeting in October, when the class agreed to support a year-book, the staff members have been working on it constantly. We have found excellent co-operation wherever we turned.

In the Art Department, Mrs. Robbins has spared no effort. Carl Sigvardson designed and executed the monogram on page one. The other divider pages are signed by their designers.

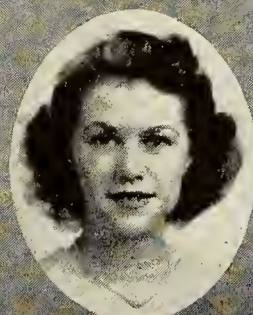

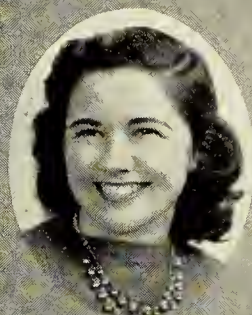

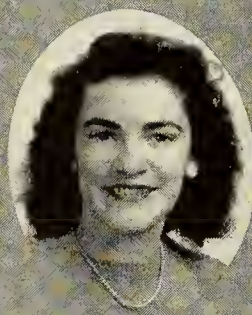

Miss Lowney and all the girls in Personnel have spent hours typing copy for the printer.

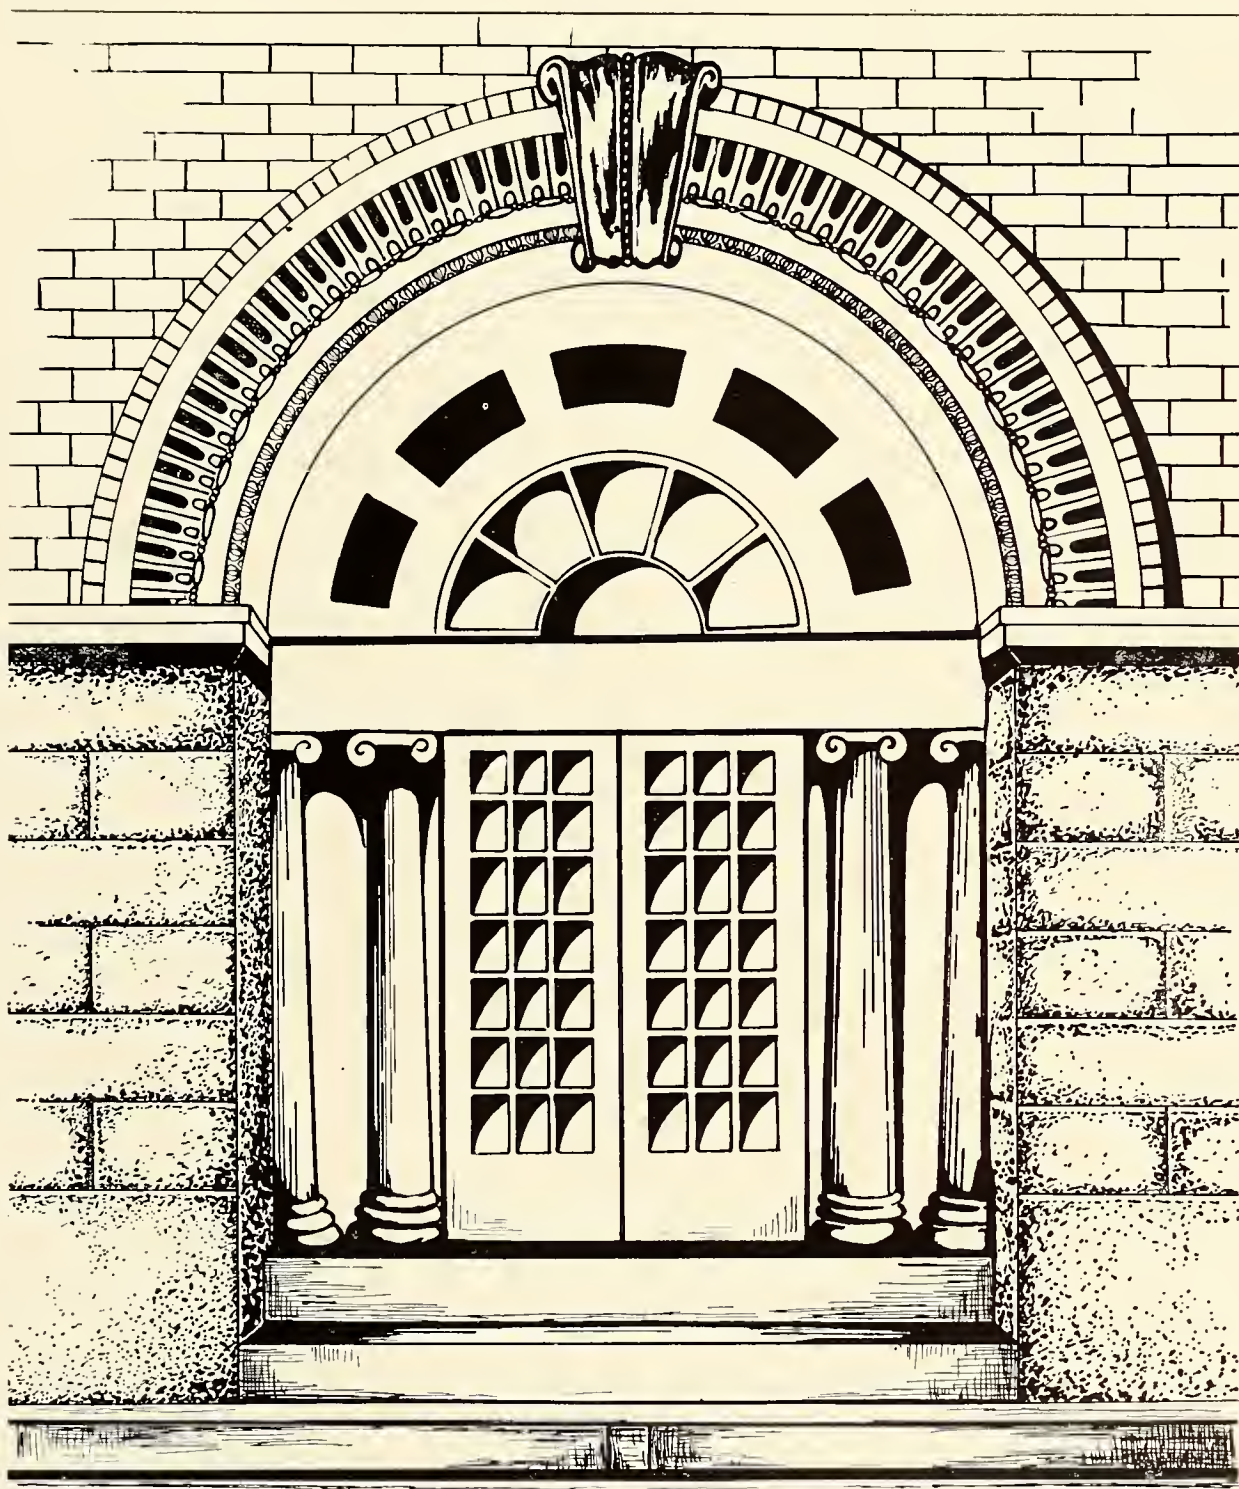

The editors have been glad to do their best and sacrifice every other consideration for "The Spindle" of 1946.

ADMINISTRATION

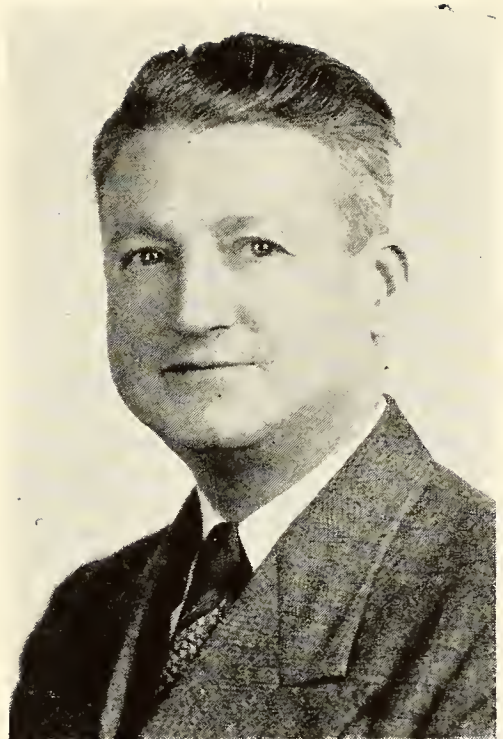

RAYMOND A. SULLIVAN

The class of 1946 is the eighty-eighth to be graduated from this school which has been in continuous existence since 1831 when spindles were first bringing fame to Lowell.

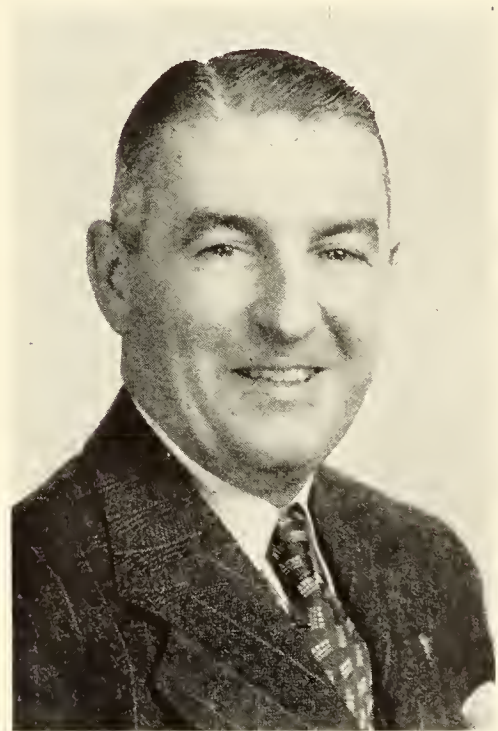

During those years threads of millions of lives have spun a variety of patterns. In your class may have been developed talent that will ultimately make some of you designers of a peaceful future for the whole world. For each of you, that future can be happy if you emphasize as necessary the democratic values of life essential to your own peace of mind. Courageously facing forward in such a spirit, you can cooperate actively in the development of civic, national, and world peace and prosperity.

Class Prophecy

One warm, lazy afternoon in June, 1956, I sat on my porch looking over "The Spindle," year book of Lowell High, class of '46. The youthful faces of the class belied the ability many of them had proved since graduation. During the ten-year interval members of '46 had gained much publicity, not to say notoriety—By press, radio, and television, I had been informed of their exploits all over the world.

JOE DONOVAN, the former President of the class of '46, now Master of Ceremonies at the Cabana Club.

BETTY ANN BOURGEOIS, dress designer for "Seventeen."

GEORGE MCLEAN, World's Champion Speller.

CATHERINE EVANS, golf champion.

BOB MOUSHEGIAN, Champion Boxer of San Francisco.

KAY BAGSHAW, a receptionist in DOCTOR JOANNE CONNORS' office.

HAROLD READY, milkman for Hood and Sons.

RUTH LAMBERT, secretary to the Mayor in her beloved Worcester.

JIMMY GEORGAKAKOS, doorman at the Stork Club.

JEAN MCKEARNEY's writing a book on the art of subtle make-up.

FRANK FELTON, owns a Hot Dog Stand at Hampton Beach.

MARY JO O'NEILL, chief surgeon at The Children's Hospital.

JOHN DOHERTY and BRENDON PERRY are replacing the Lone Ranger and Tonto.

DOLLY SUDOL and MARY RYAN, are Rockettes in Radio City.

AL CHASE works for the F. B. I.

HELEN GOLEC, an Airplane Pilot.

JACQUELINE PERREAULT, secretary for the DuPont Plant in Ohio.

JOHNNY LANGLAND, Officer in command of Pearl Harbor.

PATRICIA O'LOUGHLIN, buyer in R. H. White's.

ANDY CHRISTOPOULOS, owns "Andie's Diner."

SALLY PELEKASIS, Hostess at the Stork Club.

JOE BRYANT, call on "Brilliant Bryant's Detective Agency".

JEANNE MOORE, on the list of the ten best dressed women in America.

PATRICIA POWELL and JACK FARLEY, playing the leading roles in The New York Production the "Fighting Bigs."

AL BARONOWSKI, replacing Park-ya-kar-kus.

THERESE BOURGEOIS, SHIRLEY GILCHRIST, MURIEL MANOSOUS, CORINNE MURPHY, are Powers Models.

ANN MARIE FLANAGAN, writing lyrics for Ernest Shepard's new musical.

EARL SMITH, still the zoot suiter from Dunstable.

LUCY REED, owns a figure conditioning salon, "Have a Figure like a Reed."

DICK MCGOWAN, a U. S. Senator from Iowa.

FRANCES WOJCIK, Designing clothes for Vogue.

EDDIE STEARNS, animal trainer in the circus.

LUCY ENMAN, manager Bachrach's Studio in Boston.

CHARLIE WOJCIK, lifeguard at Miami.

JACQUELYN FLANAGAN, has a school of foreign dances, hula being her specialty.

KAY MORIARTY, the fireman finally showed up at the church.

DEKE DESCOTEAU and JEAN FUCE, own an exclusive dancing school called "Deke and Jean the Moderneers."

MARILYN DAVIS, JOAN GREGG, and GAY LEMIRE; professors at the University of Pasadena.

BEVERLY CLARK, dress designer for 20th Century Fox.

DONALD BLISS, editor of the Hearst papers.

MARION RYAN, guide down at Hampton Beach.

JACK BOWERS, comedian taking Jack Benny's place.

RUTH LAPORTE, has two rings on her left hand now instead of one.

ARTHUR COHEN has a band called the "Hot Licks." His singer is BARBARA KING,
the "Hot Licks Chick."

TED COUPE, comedian taking Danny Kay's Place.

HELEN RILEY, is replacing Cass Daly.

HOLLIS DEXTER, the second Lorenzo Jones.

SHIRLEY CONNORS is now a famous lawyer.

BOB DUCHARME, governor of the state of Texas.

PAT FOLEY owns a jewelry store.

PAT MCNIFF, master of ceremonies at the "Brown Derby."

MICKEY FINN has a taxi, so just "Call on Mickey's Taxi."

THELMA TZIKOPOULOS, still very peppy and making her third trip around the world.

THELMA CARAM, manages The Reader's Digest.

VASILIOUS LETSOU, Professor at Harvard.

SENIOR CLASS

Early in the fall we chose Joe Donovan to lead our class as president. He remained with us long enough to be the most successful master of ceremonies ever to charm an audience at a minstrel show, and then left in answer to the mighty roar of the ocean.

The remaining class officers carried on. In order to give the class full representation each home room was asked to elect one of its members to the senior council. This group has appointed committees to select the class ring, to choose the class motto, and to run the senior prom.

Our class elections have been lively affairs each year, but no one can completely explain the all-boy slate of '46.

We lost many members in '45 and '46 to the services, but those of us who have stayed will doubtless bring fame to L. H. S., our Alma Mater.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

In Lowell High School, as in many other schools throughout the country, election to the National Honor Society is one of the greatest distinctions which may be conferred upon a student. Election to the Society is not based on scholarship alone; a member must also be outstanding in character, leadership, and service.

The emblem of the National Honor Society is the keystone and the flaming torch, the keystone symbolizing the high ideals of the organization, and the flaming torch symbolizing its purpose. At the base of the keystone are the letters C. S. L. S. standing for the four cardinal principles of the organization—character, scholarship, leadership and service.

Those Juniors with a grade of 90% or more, within the highest 5% of the Junior class, and those Seniors with a grade of 85% or more, within the highest 15% of the Senior class are eligible for membership. They must, however, be approved by a faculty council made up of the headmaster, submasters, and department heads. Each year a special initiation ceremony is held, in which the members pledge themselves to uphold the ideals of the society.

Since 1927 when the Lowell Chapter of the National Honor Society was first formed under the sponsorship of Miss Helen Choate, 1638 students have had the privilege of membership. Now under the guidance of Mr. Edward Sullivan, the National Honor Society continues to function as the leading society of Lowell High School.

THE 1945 FOOTBALL SQUAD

The outlook of the 1945 football was a very promising one. With the great coaching staff of Herbert Cochrane and his able assistant Chet Barker, the staff took the boys in hand and tried their utmost to mold a well geared machine. The coach drove the boys hard and before long they were in perfect condition. They were headed by the two Co-Captains Bob Dailey and John Dahlquist.

The boys were able and willing to learn. Their first was a grueling contest with Salem. Although they were beaten their spirit wasn't broken. As the season wore on the team seemed to be jinxed by injuries. One defeat followed another and up to their final game, with Lawrence High School they hadn't won a game.

The boys rose up to their greatest height, and defeated the highly favored Lawrence team. It was a tough game in which the fleet-footed Mike DeMauro time and again turned back the strong Lawrence team. The Lowell line was outstanding. The combination of Stearns through the Middle and DeMauro around the ends spelled doom for the Lawrence team. This victory proved once again that the Lowell boys had what it takes to win when the pressure was on.

BASKETBALL SQUAD

The 1946 Varsity basketball team finished fifth in the Boston Interscholastic Basketball League, under the guidance of Anthony (Tony) Archinski, who succeeded Frank Skaff as coach. One of the major reasons for the team's winning only one-third of its games was the fact that none of the players on the squad had played on the varsity team before. For this reason, much valuable time was lost in seasoning the team. But what the boys lacked in playing knowledge they made up in game-spirit and love of the sport. All the home games were played on the Textile College court. The high scorers for the season were: Natsios, with 91 points; Ginalski, 73 points; and Macaronis, 67 points.

TRACK SQUAD

GEORGE F. HAGGERTY

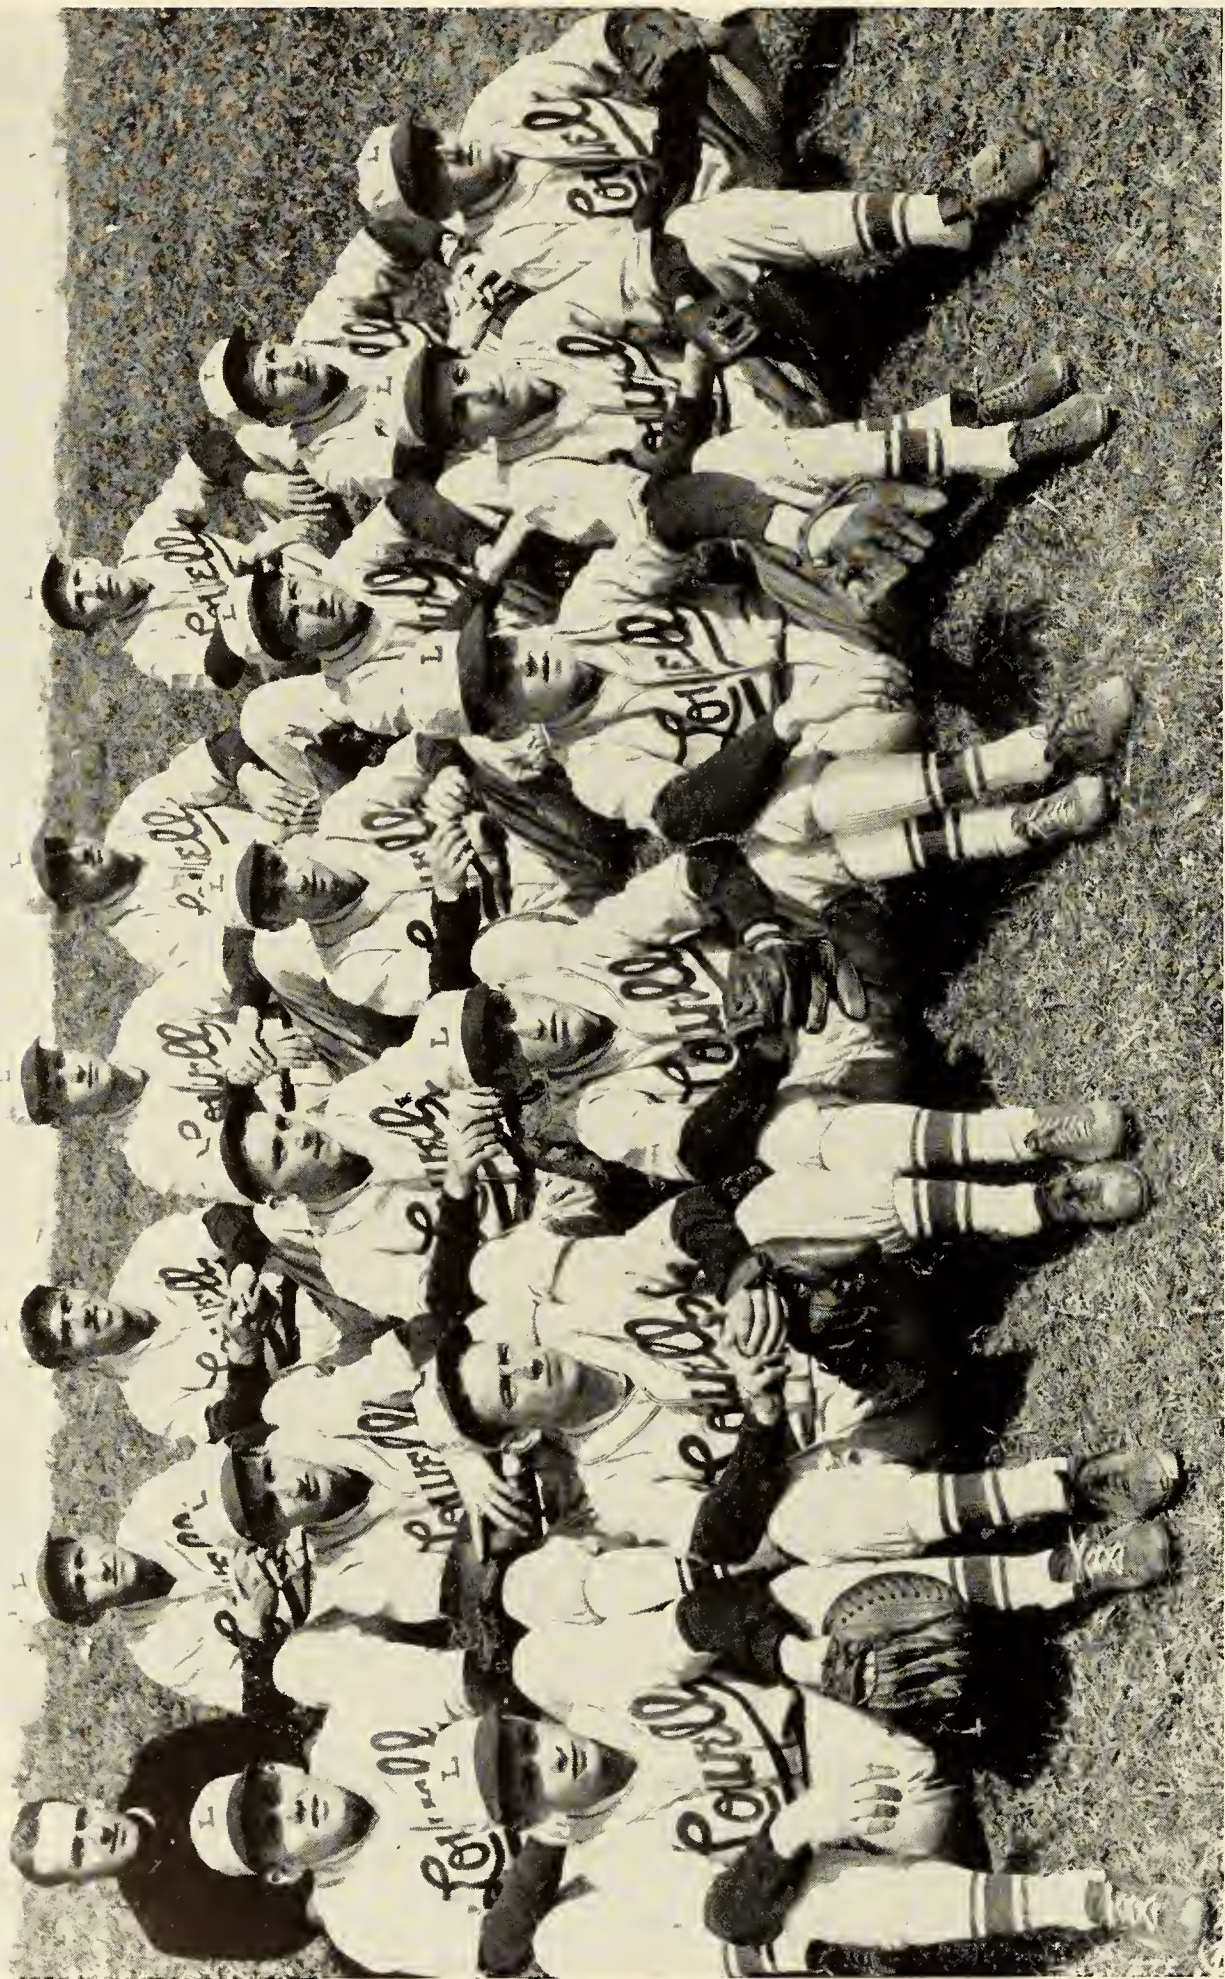

TRACK

The 1946 track team of Lowell High School, which was coached under the intelligent guidance of George Haggerty, was built around the nucleus of the returning lettermen of the year 1945. Among them were Captain Jack Abrams, star 300-yarder, Charles Wojcik, hurdles and 600-yarder, James Kinney, 100-yarder, Henry Mroz, distance runner, Edward Stearns, shot-putter, and Joe Normandy, high-jumper, who left early in the season to join the armed forces.

Our boys opened the season victoriously by finishing in a tie for first place in the Northeastern Interscholastic Meet which was held in the Y. M. C. A. of Boston. This was the first time that Lowell has captured that important meet. For their strenuous efforts, our boys were presented with a trophy which will be turned over to the school for posterity.

In the dual meets, Lowell defeated the Andover Jayvees twice, but lost to Lynn English and Lynn Classical. The defeats at both Lynn tracks were due to the fact that our team was unaccustomed to the strange floors at the Lynn gyms. However, our boys came through with a gallant victory over our ancient rival, Lawrence, by the score of 45-32. Lowell concluded the indoor campaign by finishing fourth in the senior division of the Greater Boston Interscholastic Meet.

The schedule for the outdoor season included a quadrangular meet between Newton, Lawrence, Lowell, and Medford; dual meets with Lawrence and the Andover Jayvees; and the "Little Olympics," which is the annual event held at Shedd Park to compete for the Foley watch.

The wealth of material which Coach Stan Stoklosa had on hand dispelled many problems for baseball. The nucleus for this year's squad was composed of veterans from last year's star-studded combination. Some came to us packed with experience after playing Legion; still others from Twilight League and C. Y. O. ball. With a field of such candidates and able coach, Stan Stocklosa had a fine team.

As is customary, the team entered in the Greater-Boston High School League coming up against such powerful teams as Medford, Somerville, Everett, and Chelsea. Last year's team finished third in a field of eight.

The chief objectives were to extend our lead on Lawrence, as far as this year is concerned, in sports; to break up the line of victories over L. H. S. which have been garnered by Keith Academy on the field of combat; to cop the pennant of the Greater-Boston League and get into the play-offs at Fenway Park.

BATON TWIRLERS

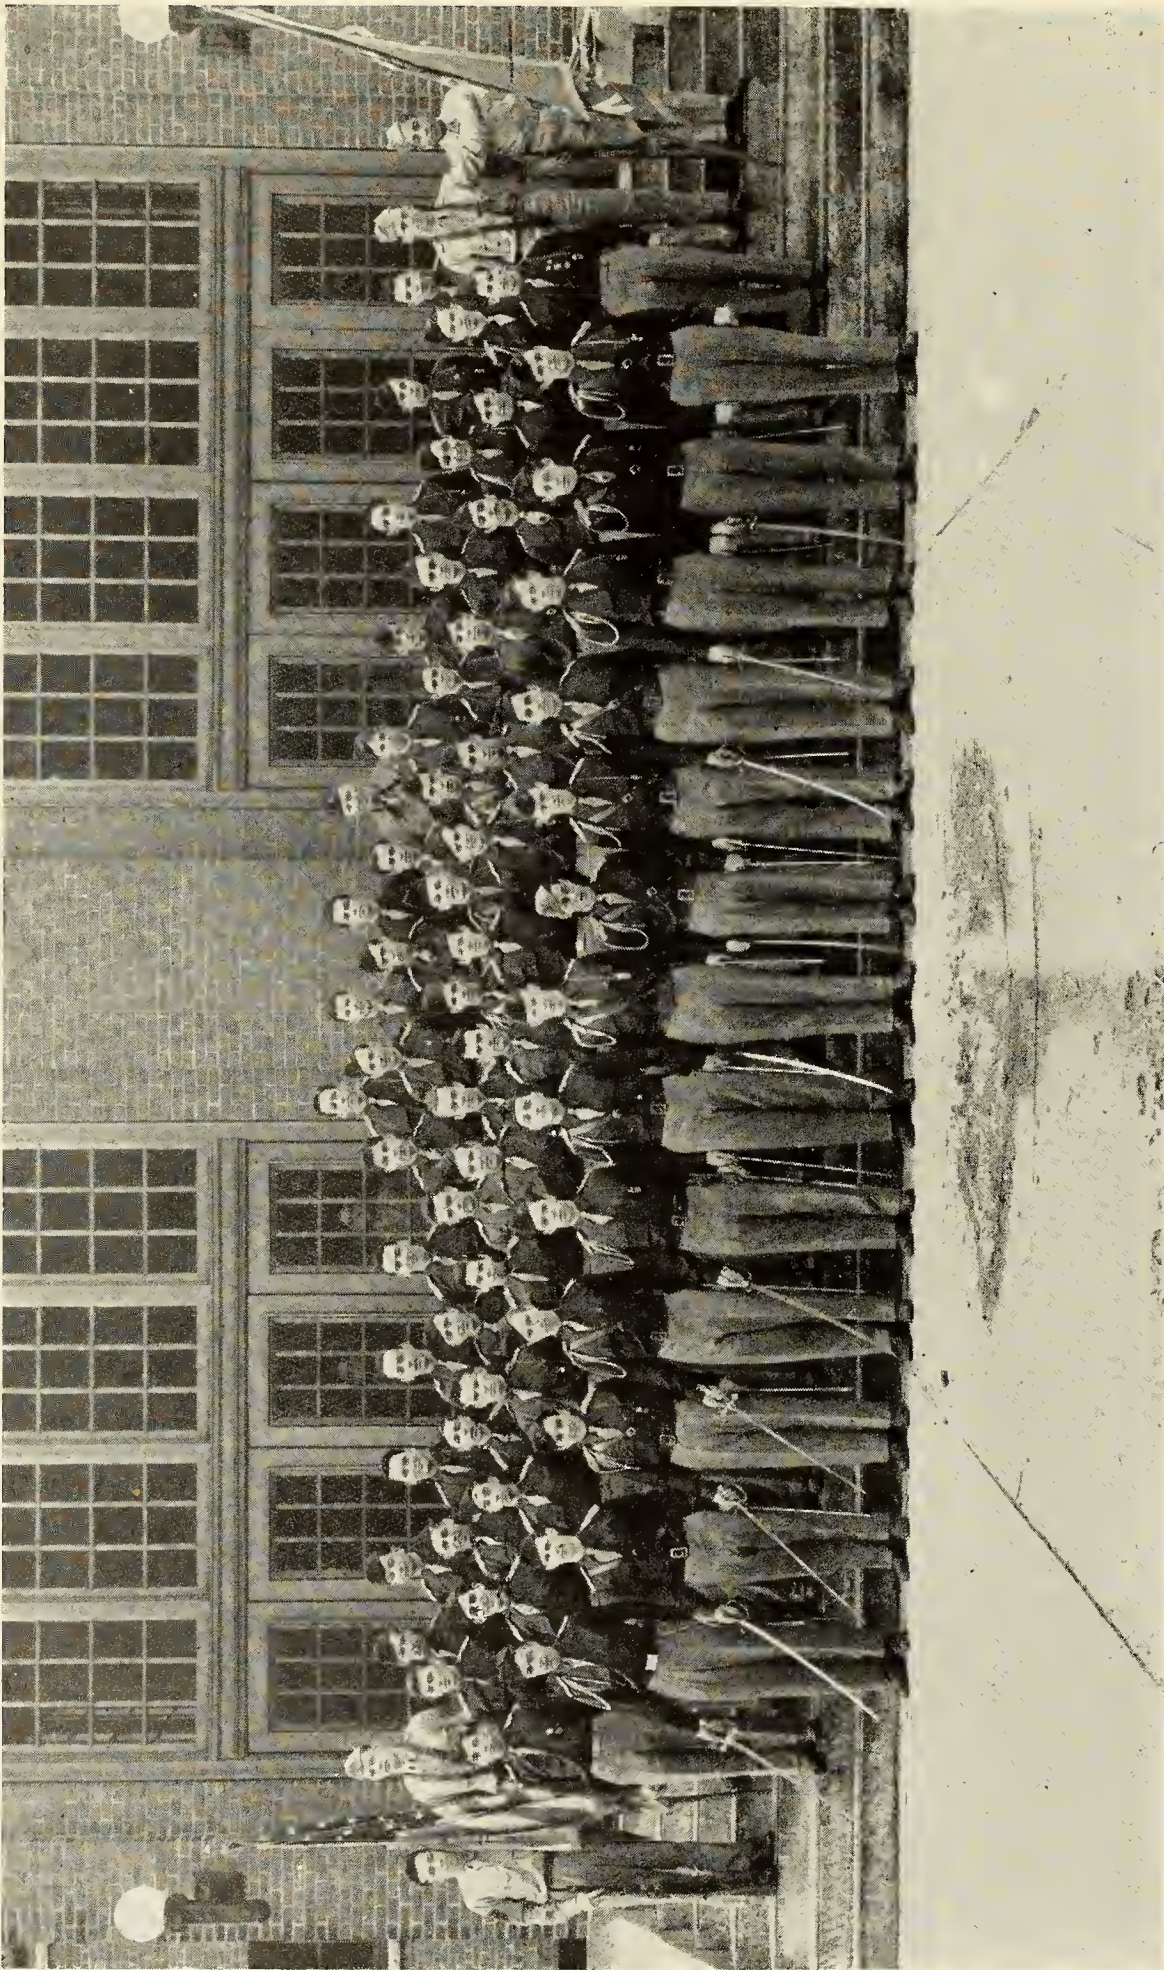

WILFRED T. BOULGER

Attention! The history of the Lowell High School Twirlers. Lowellites recognize and admire our white and gold uniforms, but few are familiar with its origin. It was in the fall of 1935 that Wilfrid T. Boulger organized and trained a unit of thirty members and one chosen leader. At the Thanksgiving Day game in Lawrence, the twirlers made their first appearance and were received with much enthusiasm. This resulted in a regular appearance at all football games including those played out of town. The unit wore uniforms which consisted of white skirts and sweaters displaying a large red L.

The following year an acrobatic leader was featured and the unit proudly introduced their new two piece uniforms trimmed with gold buttons. In addition to precision twirling and intricate drills, selected solo twirlers were featured.

The public became interested and the unit appeared at the State Music Festivals and the New England Music Festivals. These appearances have been discontinued since the war. Popularity grew immensely and invitations were received to appear in almost all of the principal cities in Massachusetts, New Britain, Connecticut and Portland, Maine. There has been a great demand for appearances in Lowell and surrounding towns. Small selective groups featuring precision and solo twirling, Swiss flag swinging, electric baton and vocal numbers have appeared before every charitable and fraternal group in the city.

Championship Competitions were introduced in 1942 and gold and silver medals were awarded accordingly. A contest for Novice Twirlers proved successful and encouraged pupils to develop their abilities. Twirling is a twelve month activity which has enabled members to perfect their posture and develop poise.

BOY OFFICERS

For years Lowell High School has been symbolized by the dashing Boy Officer and now we present the officers of the class of '46. Proudly displaying their handsome militaristic uniforms as their predecessors have through the years, these boys represent the 65th year of the high school regiment. Although the uniforms are a bit off the military standard this year due to action of the United States Army, our officers wear an original shoulder epaulet which designates organization, together with a red and gray rank badge over the right breast pocket.

This is the year following the Second World War and with the entire world in an unsettled condition a Third World War is not a fantastic impossibility. Perhaps these officers of the Lowell High School Regiment will shed their sharp ceremonial uniforms in favor of the khaki of the battlefield as their comrades of the previous years have done. Come what may, the high school regiment will go on and the Boy Officers will continue to train the underclassmen in military discipline and army close-order drill so that they may be prepared to serve their country if the occasion should demand.

For many years the public has known and associated the high school with Boy Officers and Field Day. When we of the class of '46 who contribute to the "Spindle" are aged and nostalgically look back upon our high school days, one of the outstanding memories will be of the regiment and the Boy Officers.

GIRL OFFICERS

BAWITA LAWLER

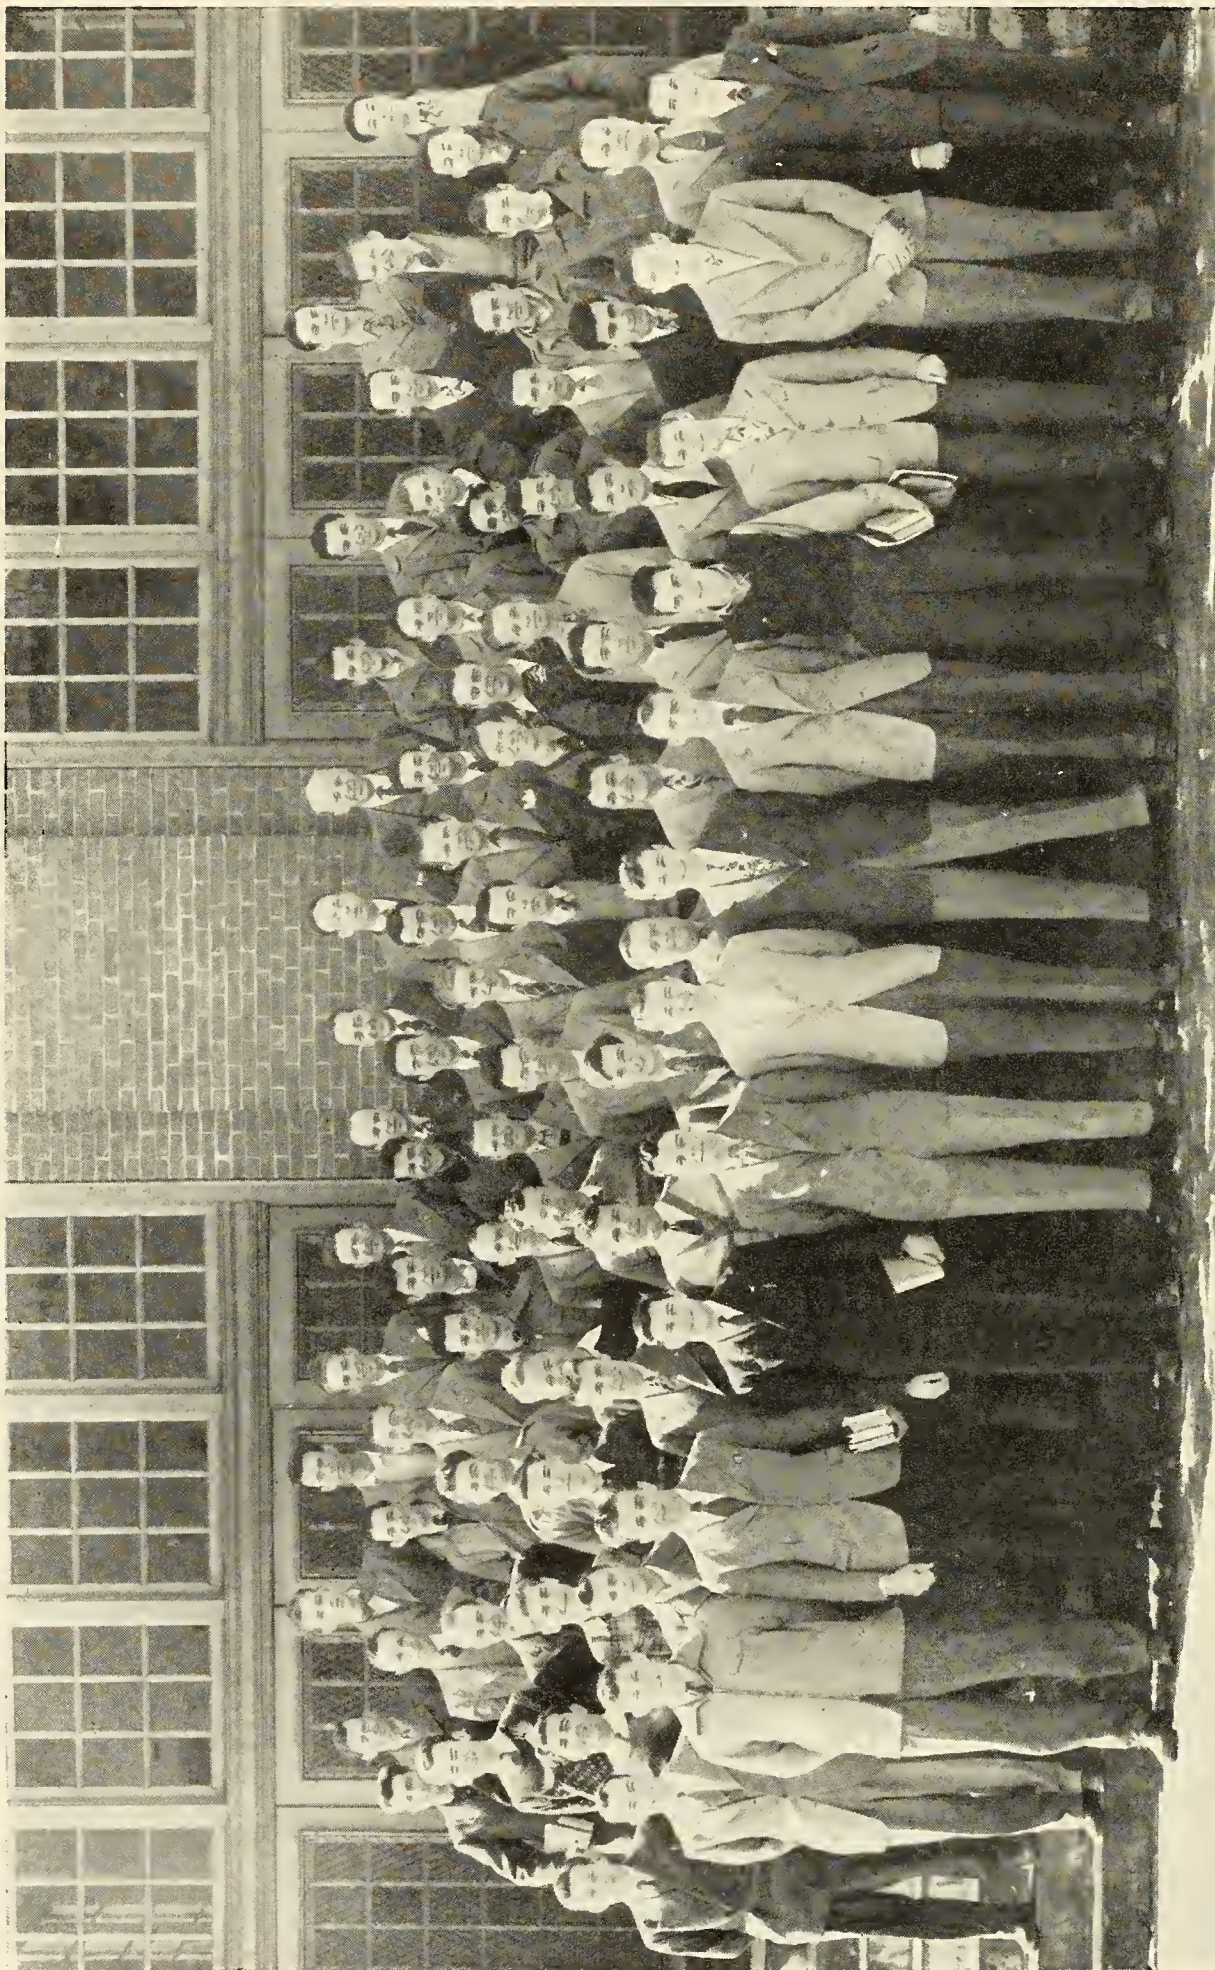

THE GIRL OFFICERS' ASSOCIATION

The Girl Officers' Association of the Lowell High School was founded in 1896. At that time there were only forty officers, who constituted a battalion. The highest ranking officers were the five majors. The officers were chosen by the instructor on the basis of their scholarship. Thus, the first major was the girl with the highest mark at the end of her junior year. In 1936 the battalion became a regiment. Instead of forty officers, seventy-two girls were chosen as officers for the first time.

Today the uniforms are navy blue serge with gold chevrons to indicate rank. The uniforms have not been radically changed, although one year the girls had white uniforms. The navy uniform is a badge of achievement which any girl may wear proudly.

As the years passed, the requirements were changed to include the girl's personality and leadership. Since the Girl Officers served as assistants in the physical education classes, it became necessary to take physical ability into consideration. The girls are graded by the two instructors for their class work, and then they are marked by expert out-of-town judges in a competitive drill. The average of these two marks determines who the future officers will be.

The Girl Officers aid the instructors in classes; they aid charitable organizations by offering their services; they promote a higher standard for the girls in the school. Being an officer gives a girl more poise and confidence. She has responsibility, because she is an example to the girls in the school. She knows that she is regarded with critical eyes by her fellow students, and that she must live up to the standards of the Girl Officers' Association.

THE VETERANS

One of the additions to the high school this year was the veterans' room on the first floor. This room has been given over to the men who have returned to the high school in pursuit of a higher education. After three or four years in the service, these men realize that there are no jobs with a future for uneducated men. Under the G. I. Bill of Rights veterans have been given a chance to attend a college of their own choice and that is precisely the purpose of the veterans' classes. A great many, who were graduated from high school in '39 and '40, saw no hope of going to college. Some of them are nineteen, some twenty-five; some married, and some are single; but all are able and anxious to make come true dreams of college. By attending these classes they have an opportunity of making college credits.

Among these men we find would-be economists, textile chemists, and a few teachers, and almost all the branches of engineering.

A number of these veterans have expressed their appreciation for the cooperation of the faculty and Mr. Dana Palmer, who is advisor of the group. I think it is for us to thank them for showing us that there is but a small place in the world for anyone without at least a high school diploma.

PERSONNEL DEPARTMENT

The Personnel Department was organized about twenty years ago as a service to both the pupil and the school.

The primary purpose is to develop knowledge of business and office organization from the viewpoint of the office worker.

Training is given in courtesy, honesty, loyalty, efficiency and punctuality, so that upon graduation the student is better able to take his place in the business world.

The department functions as a business office and its staff consists of fifteen seniors—a Personnel Manager and fourteen assistants, selected on the basis of their exceptional ability during the Junior year. The work consists of duplicating, typing, correspondence, filing and keeping office records.

Miss Annabelle C. Lowney, Head of the Shorthand and Typewriting Department, is the Faculty Advisor and Lucy Wronski is serving as Personnel Manager for 1946.

ROOM 100

Room 100 remains anonymously quiet about its activities. The members of Mr. Harris' trusted corps of accountants and secretaries know just how to put their fingers on every bank account and financial enterprise in the school.

Secluded in the Old Building the office houses the comptrollers of L. H. S. There they sell tickets, balance accounts, prepare deposits, and restore lost articles.

Mr. J. E. Harris, the bursar, advises, directs and supervises the processes in the miniature bank. Most of the seniors in the room have chosen to pursue the accountant course in the commercial department. Many graduates from Mr. Harris' 'Special course' are well established in successful business careers.

Seated—Nancy Gilchrist, Don Spearel, Rita Coakley. Standing—Don McIntyre, Mary Cirasella, Shirley Martel, Shirley Connors, J. E. Harris.

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club, after four years of inactivity, was reorganized on October 17, 1945, with forty members.

On Wednesday of the following week, a charter, drawn up by the officers, was proposed by 1st Vice President Edward Ruszczyk. The Eighth Amendment of this charter states that no person shall be an officer, unless he obtains the rank of A or B in German. Any person may join the club.

At a later date the club was entertained by speeches given by veterans Timothy Lyons and Gerard Miller. Mr. Lyons spoke on the customs of the German people, while Mr. Miller spoke on German literature and culture.

SPANISH CLUB

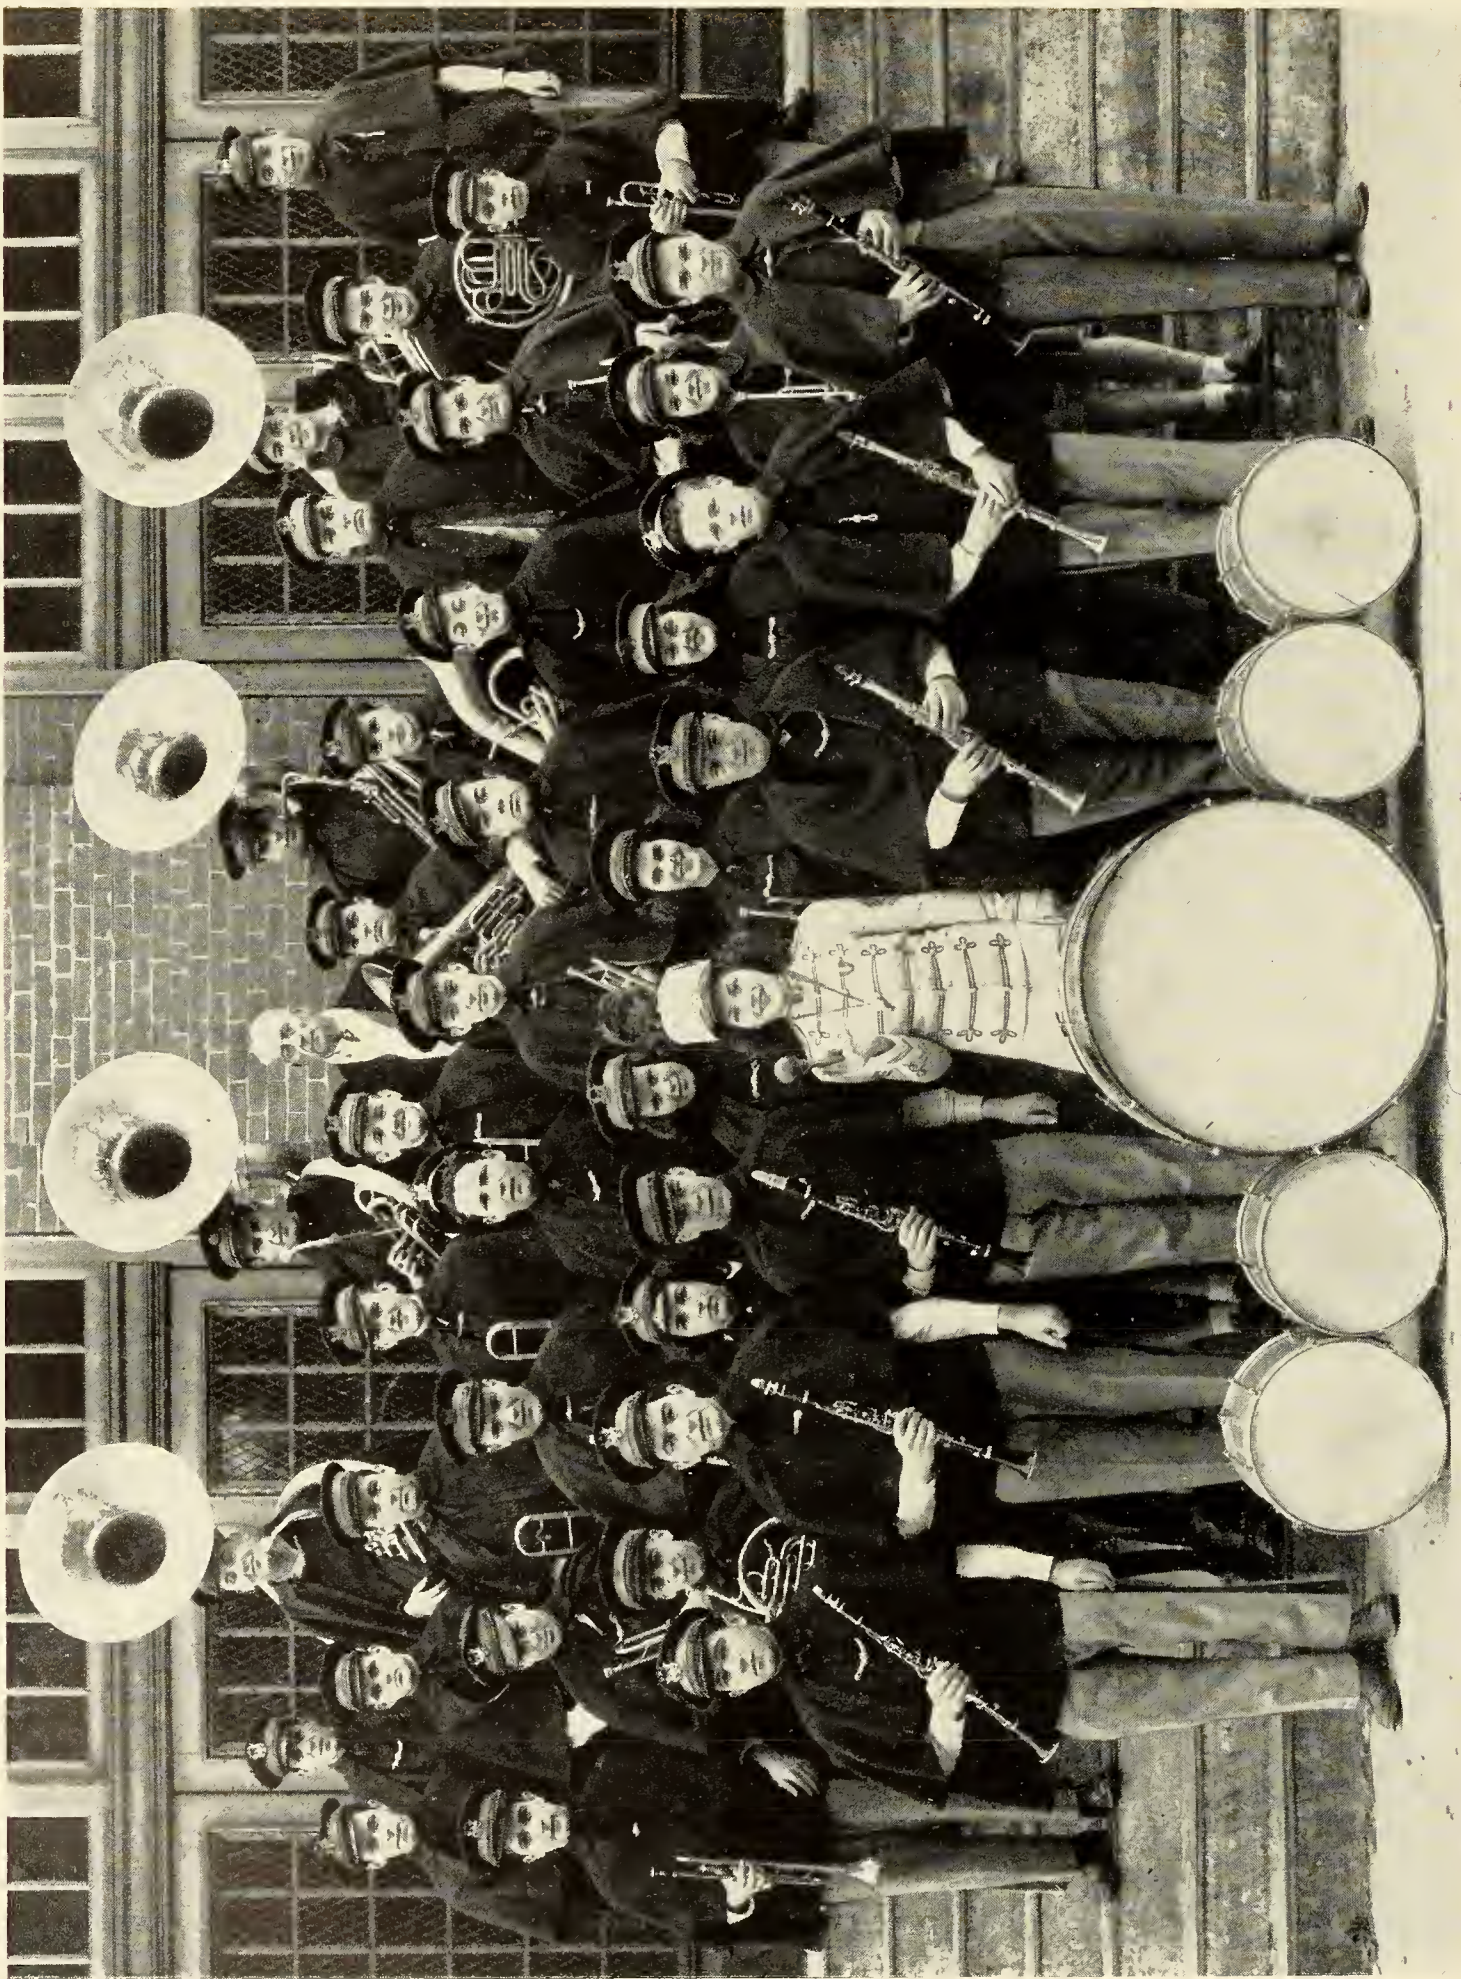

The Spanish Club is the second oldest of the L.H.S. student organizations. In the fall of 1921, students taking Spanish met with Mr. Cornell to discuss the advisability of forming a club. The name "Circulo Espanol" was given the group, although it is more commonly known as the Spanish Club, and Lucille Fuller was chosen as the club president.

The only requirement for admission is that members be taking Spanish or have taken it at some time during high school. It has always been the aim of the Spanish Club to make its programs both entertaining and instructive. Each year, the club presents several Spanish playlets. The club members also correspond with students in South America and Mexico, thereby gaining a deeper appreciation of life in Spanish speaking countries.

The high-light of the Spanish Club year is the annual Spanish luncheon, which gives the members an opportunity to sample such Spanish foods as chile con carne, hot tamales, guava jelly, and mate. This year, several Spanish-Americans were the guests of the club at their luncheon.

This has been one of the Spanish Club's most outstanding years, in that the club has had more members than usual, and a larger treasury. The members of the club, also, for the first time in the club's history, ran a very successful dance in the L.H.S. gym.

The Club has been entertained by several South American speakers, and also seen Spanish films, all of which have helped to make the meetings most enjoyable.

JOHN J. GIBLIN

THE BAND

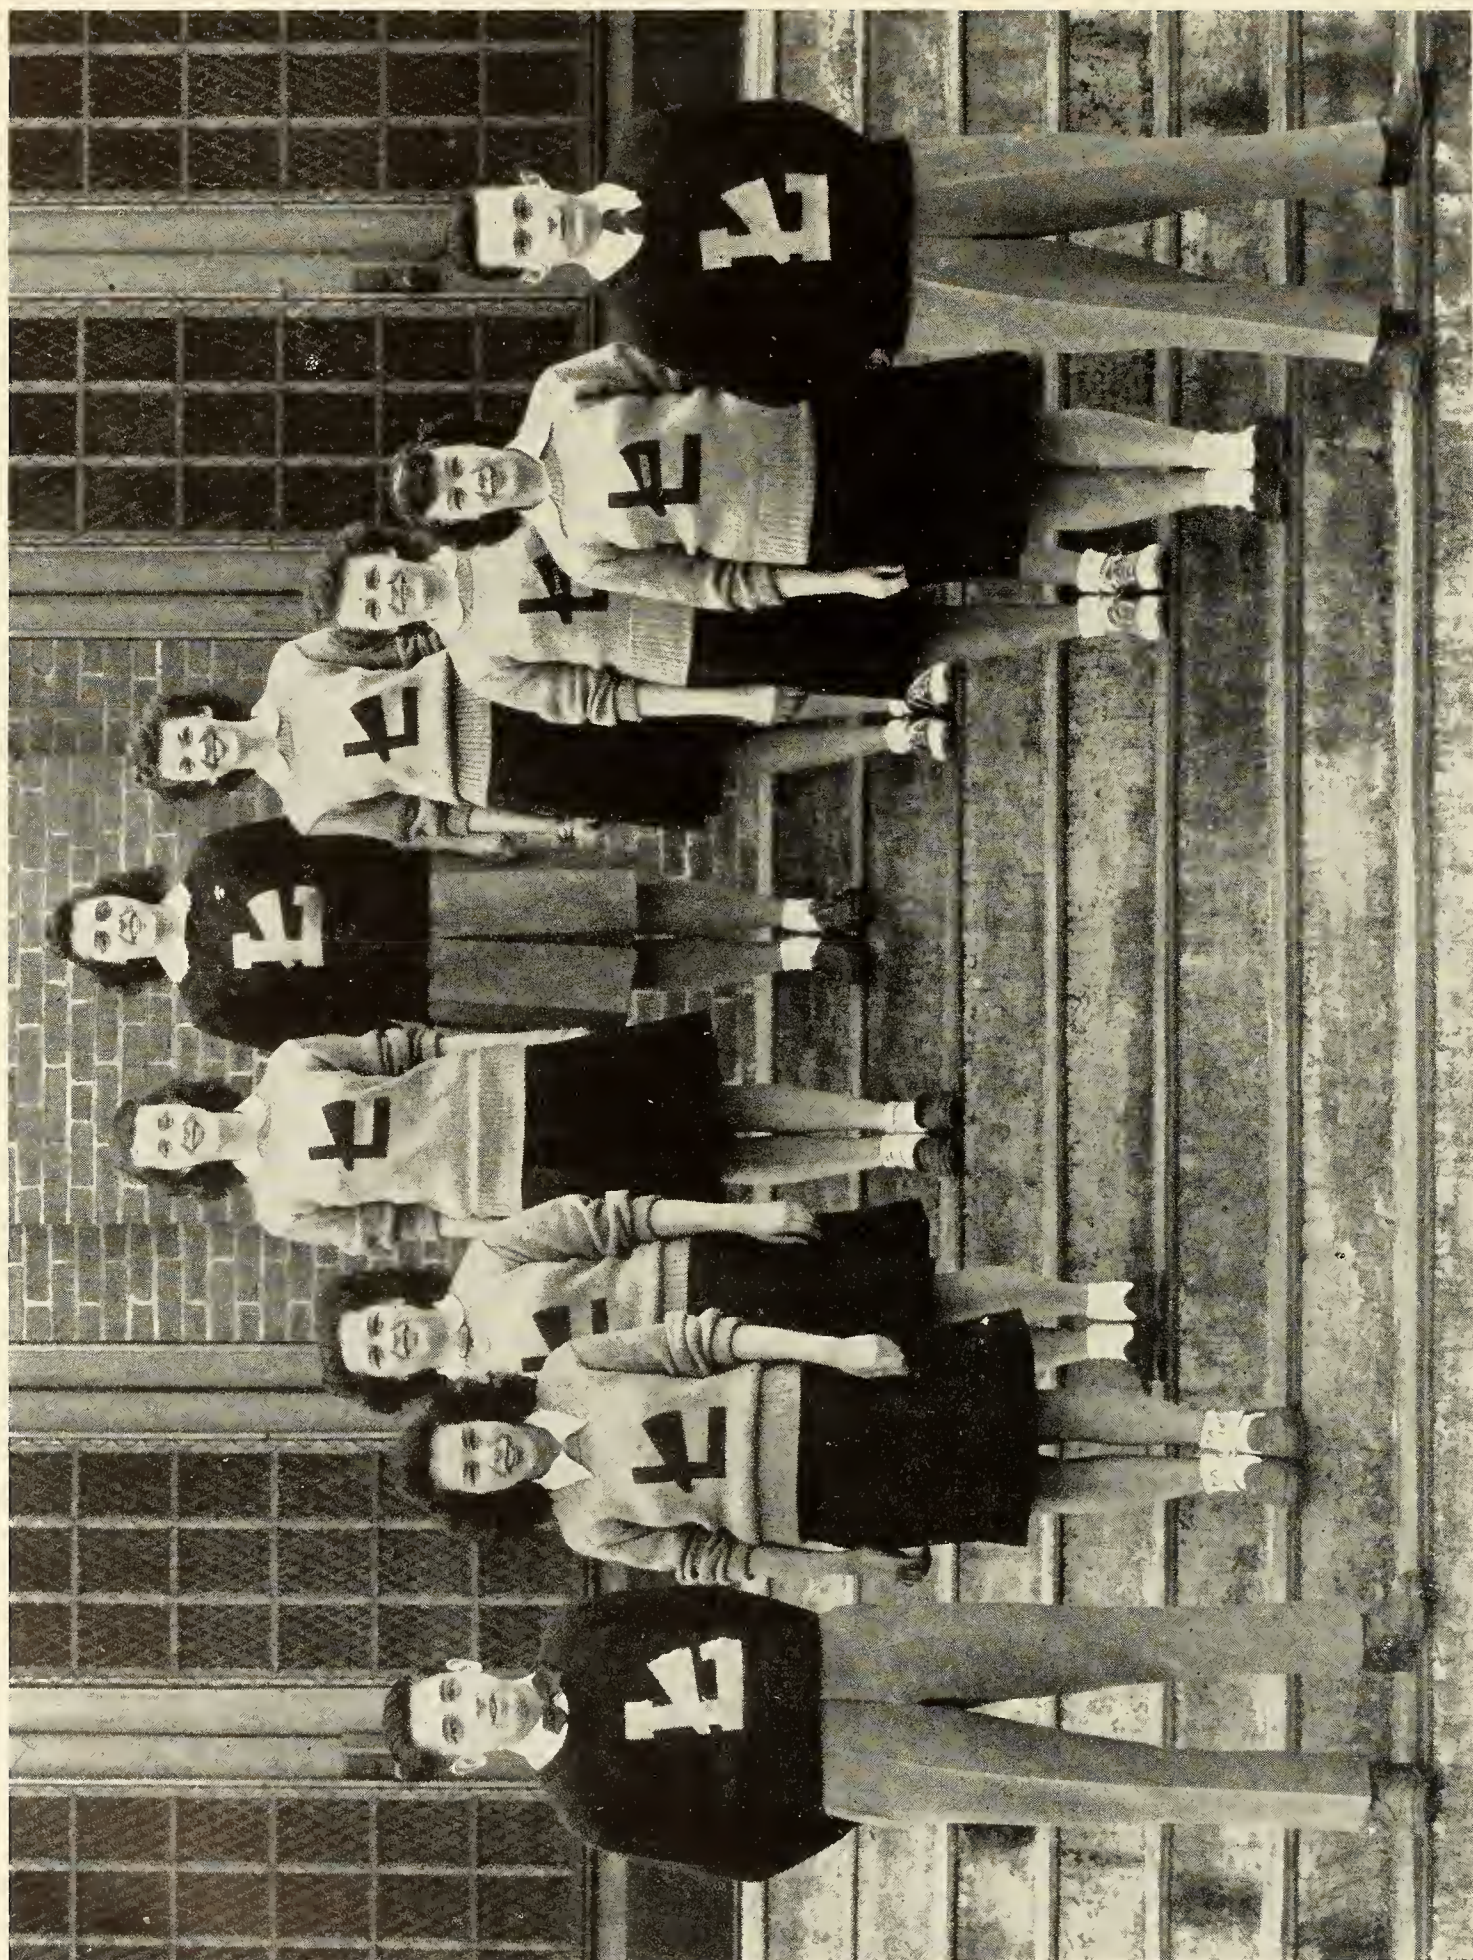

Our band was founded on January 1, 1923, with the New Year's resolution to make Lowell High School proud of her new organization. Under the capable direction of Mr. John J. Giblin from its birth to the present time, the band has won sectional and national honors and has always been the envy of all the surrounding cities.

The band was invited by John Philip Sousa to play with his musicians in 1924. It participated, in 1926, in a national music tournament in Fostoria, Ohio. To get funds to make this trip, the band boys themselves, raised $4,300. At the end of the trip the band returned with eight cents to spare.

Those were the days when the band made headlines and held concerts. One of the headlines in 1927 read "L.H.S. band wins First Prize, Class A, in N. E. Tournament." Headlines such as that predominated throughout the years. Mr. Giblin has treasured in his scrapbook a certificate awarded by the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music to the band designating it as a first prize winner of class "A" in Gloucester in 1937.

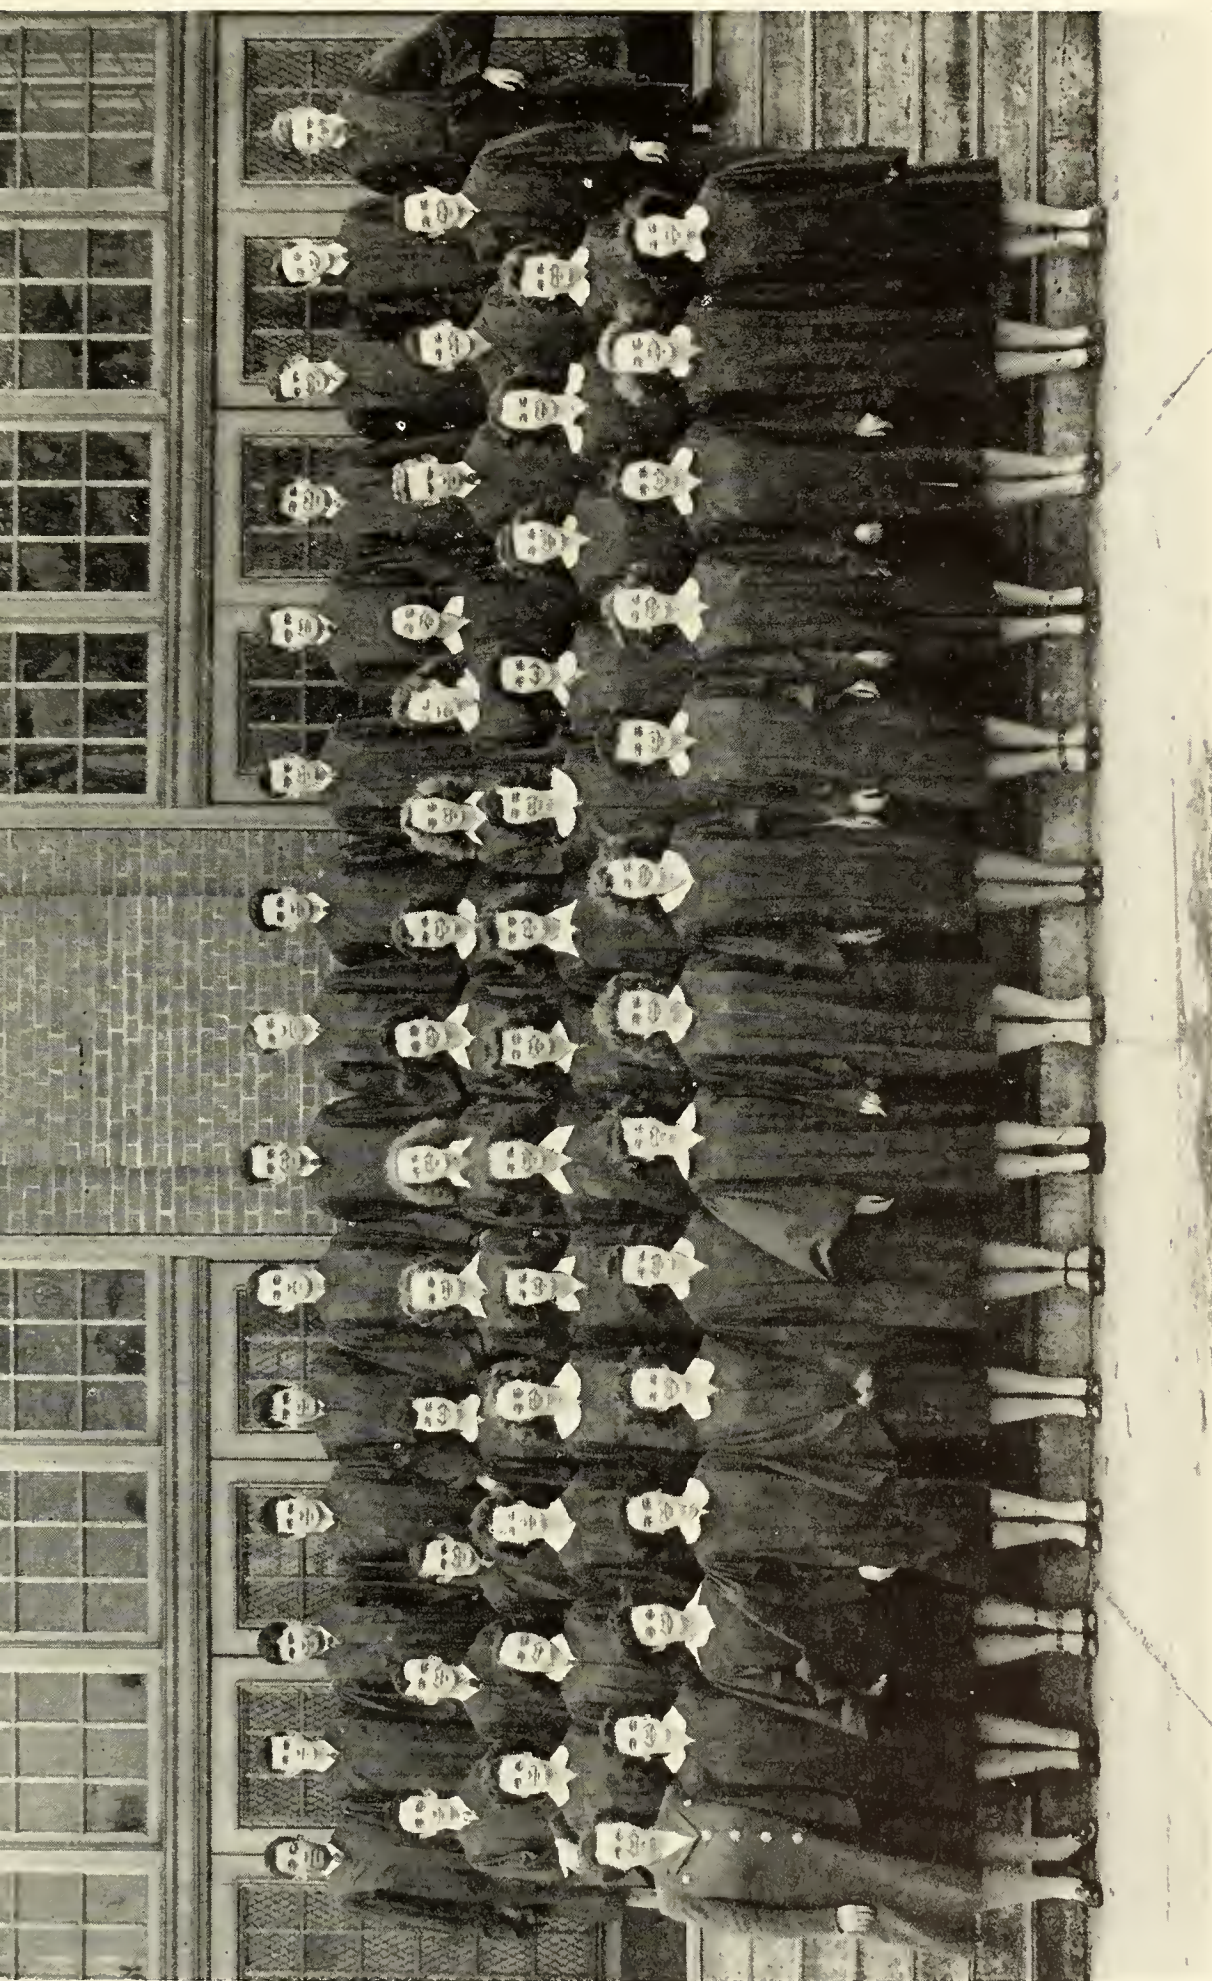

We know of the fine work the band has done at football games, civic functions, and on our annual Field Day.

The students of Lowell High School of today can look into the future and see with pride a band which will always bring credit to Lowell High School.

THE SPECIAL CHORUS

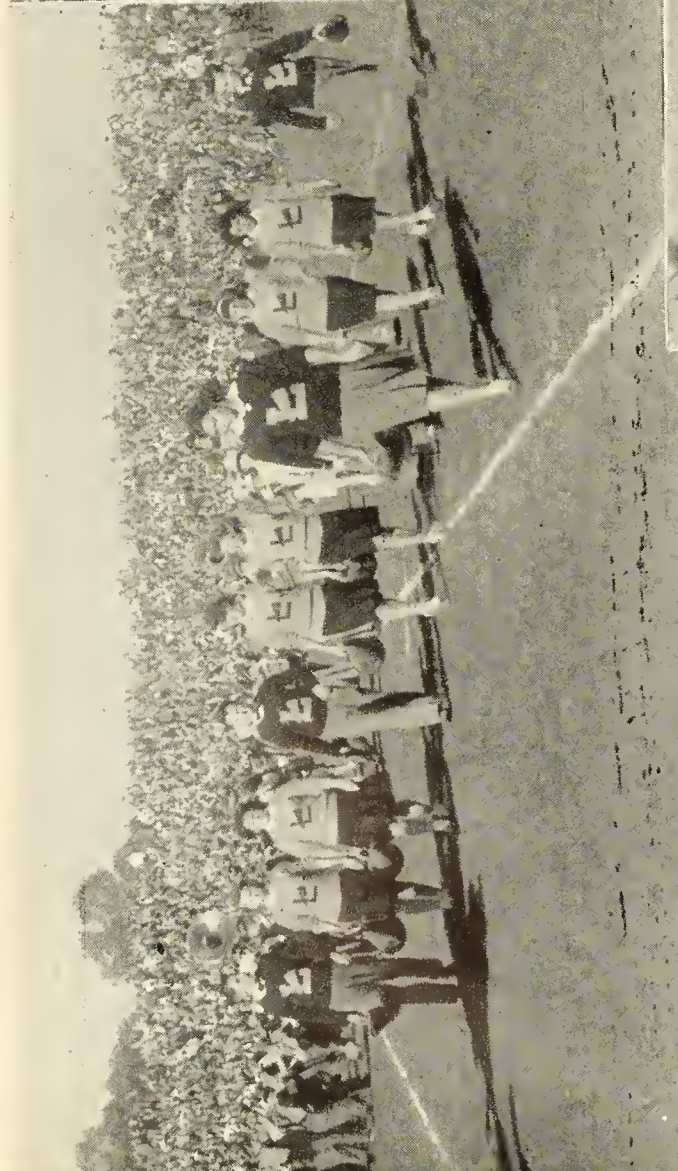

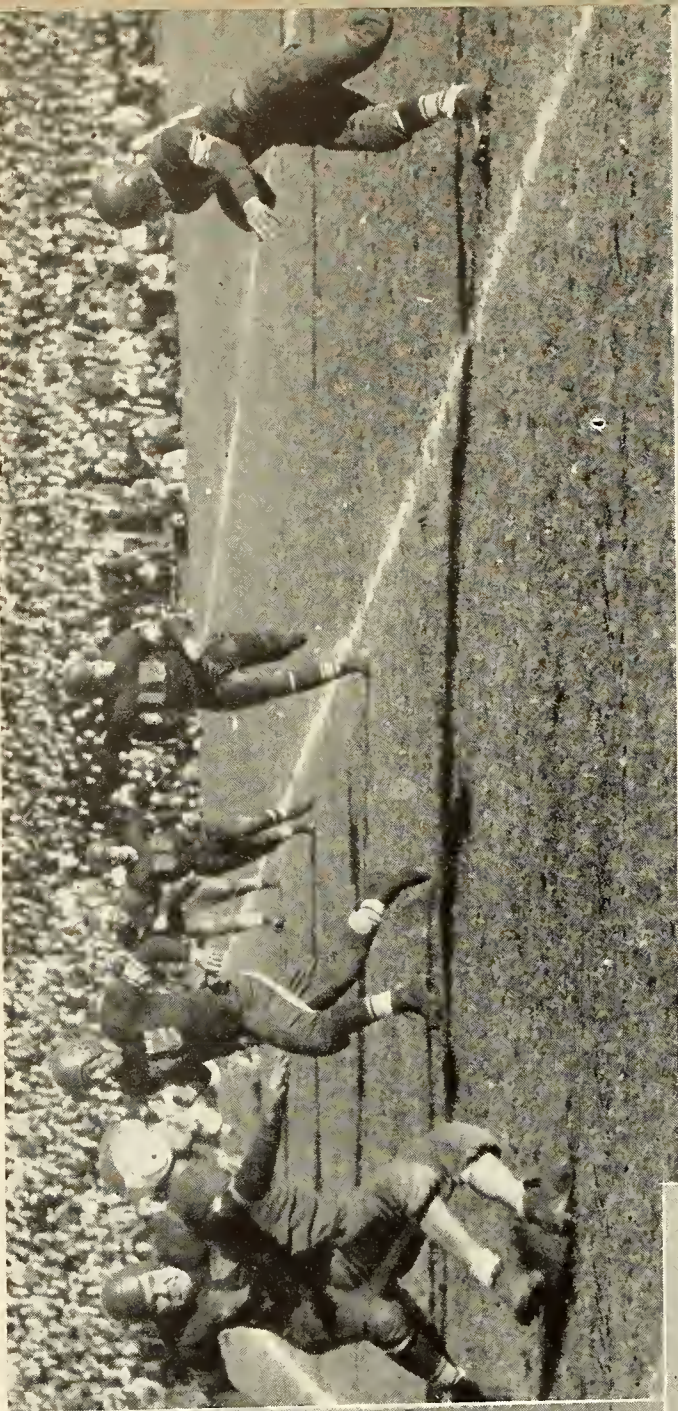

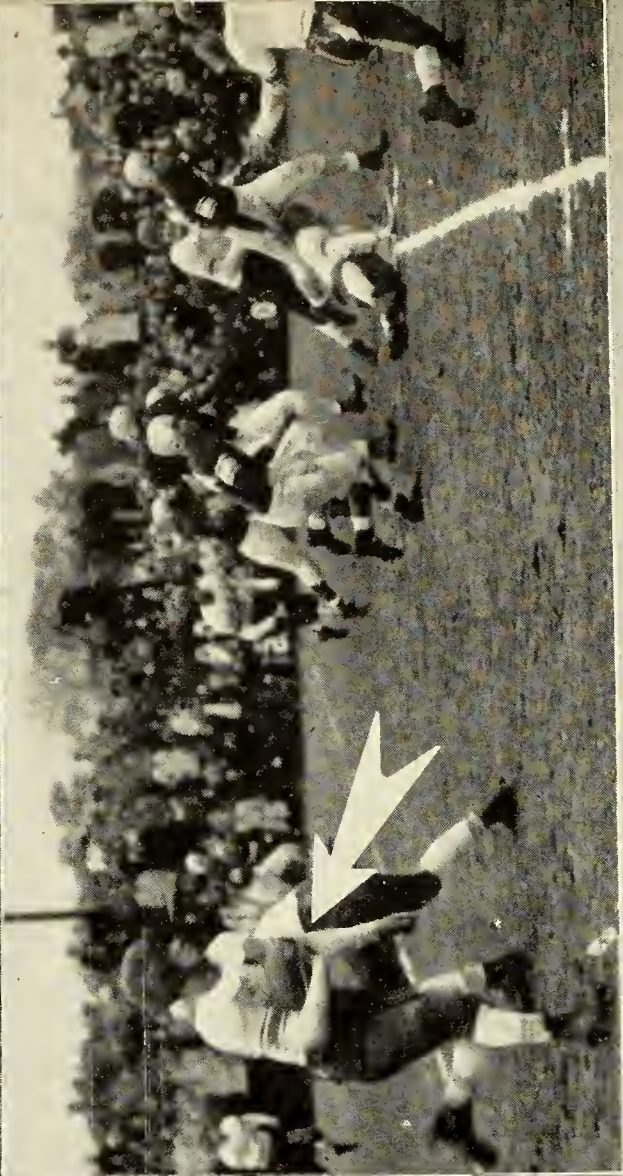

The Special Chorus was first formed in 1935. It is made up of sixty selected members of the Senior Class and some Juniors with exceptionally good voices. Under the very capable direction of Miss Gertrude O'Brien, at each special assembly, the chorus presents lovely musical programs of classical and sacred selections. The Special Chorus not only entertains at High School functions, but also at many civic activities. To keep its good work the chorus rehearses every Thursday at the close of school and also very often during study recesses.

THE ORCHESTRA

One of Lowell High Schools greatest assets is its orchestra. Under the direction of the capable and never tiring Miss Gertrude F. O'Brien, the orchestra has come a long way since its founder, Mr. Frederick O. Blunt, presented a group of talented students before an appreciative audience a quarter of a century ago. Each year the instrumentation has grown until today it contains such instruments as flutes, trombones, bells, violins and a xylophone.

Any musically inclined high school student is eligible to make the best of his talents. He may chose to be in one of the four divisions of the orchestra, string, woodwind, brass or percussion. One diploma credit is awarded. Rehearsals take place every Wednesday after school. Many former members continuing in this field have successfully reached their goal by playing in philharmonic orchestras.

The orchestra is always in demand. It appears at school assemblies, the school play and also entertains at many civic and educational activities of the city. For the first time since the war, the group attended the state music festival in Needham, Massachusetts, to compete with students from the entire state. We wish to extend our sincere appreciation to the members of the orchestra for their cooperation, and we wish Miss O'Brien continued success in producing more organizations of this type.

GREENHALGE DEBATING SOCIETY

The Greenhalge Debating Society was founded on June 26, 1856, in honor of Frederick T. Greenhalge. The purpose of this Society is to incite in the youth of Lowell High School the desire to become proficient in the art of presenting a strong and truthful argument on any subject.

Despite the fact that the Greenhalge Debating Society was "born and bred" in Lowell, its activities have not been limited to Lowell. Members of this society who have shown themselves to be outstanding in the debating field have travelled all over New England, and have won several district tournaments for declamation, original oratory, debating and extemporaneous speaking. The Greenhalge Debating Society has so accredited itself that it has been accepted into the National Forensic League which has approximately five hundred chapters throughout the country.

THE SCIENCE CLUB

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club, is a group composed of those students in our high school with a scientific bent. This group, brought together with Mr. Kenneth Goward and Mr. James Conway as advisors, is one of the most active academic organizations in our high school.

Its members find congenial companionship in their chosen field, as well as exceptional extra-curricular educational advantages.

The Science Club visited the plant of a local newspaper and was shown how a modern newspaper is published.

From editorial room they went through the composing room. From there, they went to the proofroom and the stereotype room, and then to the giant presses, upon which newspapers are printed and folded ready for delivery.

Another very interesting and entertaining trip was the visit of the Science Club to Father John's Cough Medicine Company. Dr. Howard D. Smith, plant chemist, took them from the cellar to the garret of the Market Street Plant. The Club members watched the ingredients prepared, mixed, sterilized, and finally bottled.

Newmarket Manufacturing Company provided another opportunity for the Club to see a different sort of industry. Here the club members were taken through each department until they had seen the entire operation of the mill from the complete modern manufacturing of cloth from yarn, down to the finished product.

Scientific curiosity was also satiated by supplementary intriguing experiments performed by members of the club at meetings held after school. Our president, Charlie Wojcik has provided us with excellent leadership throughout the year.

The REVIEW was first published in 1887 in booklet form, having anywhere from about fourteen to seventy pages.

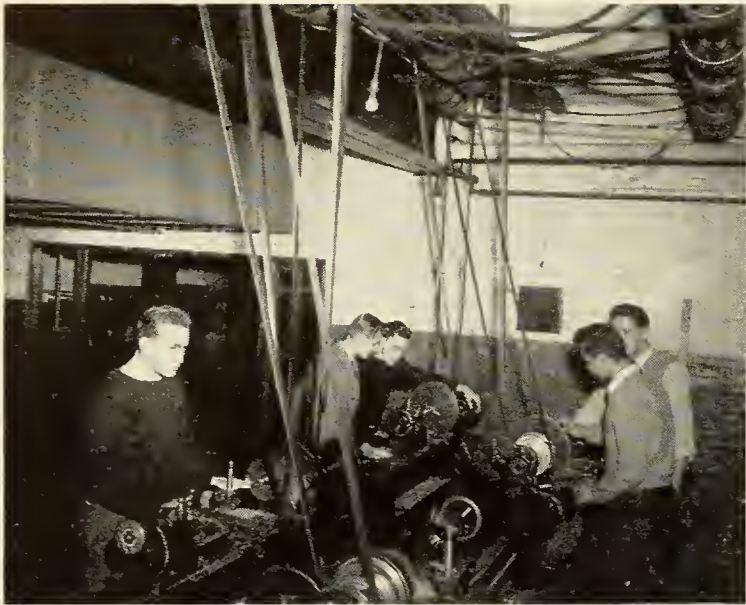

The '87 variety held much the same style and form up to 1942, when it was changed to a tabloid format. The former contained stories, editorials, and contributions from various interested folks, such as Congressman John Jacob Rogers (REVIEW June 1916). Gossip was somewhat scarcer in the older editions, having little or no equivalent to our present day BLAH column.

Through the years, the REVIEW'S final edition has often been the substitute for a year book. In these "super" editions, there were cartoons, drawn by some student; pictures of the Boy and Girl Officers, Senior Class Officers, REVIEW Staff, the Valet-dictorian, and the Salutatorian; a "Slamming Table", and a lot of jabber.

Advertisers in the REVIEW, known to the readers of three or four decades ago, and still known by the readers of today are: The Thompson Hardware Company, Bon Marche, Pollard's, and Marion's. In the past there have been advertisements that are apt to strike us as amusing when we look back on them. Carr's Pool Room—Tobacco and Cigars, "The Home of 10 Cent Collars," "Compare our 29c chocolates with other brands of much higher price" (Evidently many did, for the concern was liquidated about twenty years ago), "Graduation Suits for young men from $10.00 to $20.00" (A suit at this price today would be high class burlap).

The staff of fifteen is chosen by the senior Review members, from the outstanding students of English in their Junior year. The editor-in-chief is elected by the staff at the beginning of the school term. Miss Ryan is the faculty advisor. Under her direction the circulation of the Review has risen from 900 copies in 1941 each month to 1800 at present. At the same time the enrollment of the school has become smaller. The size varies from four to eight pages, depending upon the articles of special interest.

The REVIEW is published now, as it has been for nearly sixty years, with the purpose of presenting items that are of lasting interest to the students of Lowell High.

Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1946

To Whom It May Concern:

In behalf of our client, the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Forty-six, of the Lowell High School, of the City of Lowell, in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, we have called you together upon this somber and sumptuous occasion to listen to the last will and testament of the said Class of Nineteen Hundred and Forty-six, and to receive from the departing hand the gifts which they have to bestow in their last moments.

The Class of 1946 bequeaths to:

The Class of 1947, hereafter referred to as the Junior Class, initiative, the ability to get the things they desire, and an even better and more prosperous year than they have enjoyed;

The Class of 1948, hereafter referred to as the Sophomore Class, their heartiest congratulations on proving their worthiness to be upperclassmen;

The Class of 1949, hereafter referred to as the Freshman Class, their advice to make the most of the next three years—yours is an envied position;

The Veterans of the Second World War, the privilege of returning to their Alma Mater for the purpose of furthering their education;

The Faculty, their profound appreciation for their understanding and indulgence for the past three or four years.

Everett Clement hereby bequeaths his “huba-huba” aspects to Bruce Dickison. Danger—High Explosive.

Pat Powell leaves her magnetic pulchritude to Dottie Ann Miller.

Alec Athanas wills his football tenacity to Mike DeMauro.

Dolly Sudol bestows her unpredictable nonchalance on Natalie Jane Sutherland.

Jack Bowers leaves his “howling” abilities to Jack Lemire. No previous experience needed.

Jean McKearney bequeaths her naiveness to Polly Dinmore.

Tom Garvey bestows his constant woman-trouble to any Junior boy who is fool enough to accept it.

Maynard Moses wills his quick wit and profound sports knowledge to Frank O'Brien.

Joan Phillips bequeaths her intellect and ambition to Peggy Peters.

Thelma Tzikopoulos bestows her vivaciousness on Ginny Davis.

Andy Christopoulos leaves his corney jokes to Johnny Bliss. Sharp as a cracker and just as—good.

Lois Denio wills her shyness and her art of blushing to Joan Gassman.

Jordan Loftus bestows his “gift of gab” on Donald Dowd, with compound interest.

Therese Bourgeois bequeaths her lovely eyes to Eleanor Moushegian.

Jean Fuce leaves her smooth dancing technique to Barbara Knight.

John Conway wills his colonelcy to the most statuesque and efficient sergeant in the junior ranks of the regiment.

Lucy Asadourian imparts her infinite intelligence to Mary Birkenhead.
Shirley Gilchrist confers her artistic talent on Christine Evans.
Tommy Reynolds leaves his woman-hating act to Charlie Sharkey.
Helen Golec imparts her personality and golden locks to Hildy Palmer.
Vasilious Letsou bequeaths his profound mentality to George Sarota.
Kay Bagshaw wills her title of "Big Things Come In Small Packages" to Eleanor Kelly.

Armen Chertavian leaves his powerful physique to Robert Dingle.
Eddie Stearns bestows his hep wardrobe on Mike Sampas. He will take Dottie Ann with him.

Marilyn Clarke bequeaths her authentic Spanish accent to Jean Taylor.
Esther Spyropoulos wills her amiability to Jean McGrath.
Bobbie Starr leaves her symbolic bangs and sweet nature to Barbara Tyrrell.
Mary Jo O'Neil passes her colonelcy on to the Junior Miss who can pay the most in diligence, efficiency, and merit.

Ralph Palmer bequeaths his Latin trot to Harold McLean. Who works for an A nowadays?

Jimmie Keefe wills his top-notch personality to Jimmy Barrett.
Bob Siegars leaves his English mark to Gil Stevens. We shall not mention it here.

Betty Ann Bourgeois imparts her sparkling voice to Eileen McGuire.
John Sadlier wills his ability in debate to Alan Rock.
Kay Dakos bequeaths her demureness to Dot Callery.
Bob Liston endows his suavity on Joe Foye.
Miss Stickney's G Hour English IV class leaves their "freedom of speech" to one of her English IV classes of next year.

Marion Ryan bestows her technique of making the boys happy on Ann Bolduc.
Donald B. Bliss imparts his ambitious antics to any junior fellow who is willing to give up as much as he did.

Jean Donovan confers her aptness to get what she wants on Jean Gardner.
Arthur Cohen wills his gift of orchestra direction to Malcolm Artenstein.
George McLean endows Anthony James Murphy with his trombone agility.
Ernest R. Shepard Jr. bequeaths his multifarious attainments to any juniors who can afford to lose as much weight as he did.

Signed and sealed on this twelfth day of June in the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-six, Anno Domini by:
